The Lunch Lady's Daughter 2 Roderick J. Robison

Sarah McKinliy has come a long way since school began back in September. She had felt like an outcast then—especially when her mother became a lunch lady in the school cafeteria and Randy Kelpliere embarrassed her in front of the entire fifth grade class. But Sarah turned things around and made a few friends in process. However, just when things are finally going smoothly, Sarah and her two friends, Mariana and Lizzy, are faced with a whole new challenge. It all started with a gift basket. A simple gift basket. When Sarah, Mariana, and Lizzy made a gift basket for a friend, they had no intention of getting into the gift basket business. They knew nothing about the gift basket business. Starting a business was the last thing on their minds...But then someone saw the gift basket they made and requested three of them. That first order led to another order. And that order led to another order. The next thing they know they're in the gift basket business. And the money rolls in. But problems do too. And the girls are soon in over their heads when they receive more orders than they can fill. It looks like things are not going to work out...unless Sarah can find a way to turn things around once again...
